Hello and welcome!

On behalf of the Trustees and staff team, it is my pleasure to welcome you to Heritage Trust Network's 2024 Conference. As ever, our aim with the Conference is to connect with like-minded people interested in heritage and how it can regenerate their communities. It is an essential network for all kinds and sizes of heritage organisations and an opportunity for sharing successes, problems and ideas. Not so much an old-fashioned conference as a three-day extravaganza of events, visits, education and socialising, where you make friends while learning about new ideas from different perspectives.

The Network is proud to be a UK-wide organisation and fully committed to diversity, equality and inclusion. We visit a different location each year to be accessible to all members, as well as to showcase their inspiring projects. This year, we return to Scotland to visit the vibrant new city of Dunfermline, with its fascinating history and some incredible historic buildings.

Our previous conferences have been packed with great content, amazing venues and inspiring speakers. We are confident the 2024 programme will be just as memorable! We have invited a great array of speakers, funders, members and guests and learned about the legacy of Dunfermline's great philanthropist, Andrew Carnegie. Carnegie was "the man who gave it all away" and greatly enriched many communities with his donations to cultural projects – an example that we would love to be copied by current billionaires.

We would especially like to thank our funders and sponsors including the Architectural Heritage Fund, the William Grant Foundation and Historic Environment Scotland, and National Lottery players for making all the work of the Network possible.

If this is your first Conference, we look forward to getting to know you. Be reassured that you are among friends and take time to meet people, ask questions and find out what makes this Network so special. If you are a regular, welcome back, it's great to see you again!

Jeremy Fenn

A word from our sponsor

At the Architectural Heritage Fund (AHF), we recognise how important it is for heritage projects, at all stages in your development and operation, to have friends you can call when challenges erupt, when you're fresh out of ideas and need some inspiration, or when you are struggling to believe you'll ever finish the project.

That is why we are delighted to once again be sponsoring this annual gathering, which brings together people from across the heritage sector and all four nations of the UK, offering you an invaluable and unique opportunity to share your individual experiences and stories, and to learn from those of others.

Dunfermline is both Scotland's ancient capital and newest city, and it has a fascinating mix of historic buildings and sites to explore. We hope that you'll make the most out of your time here in this beautiful location and also take full advantage of the conference programme, which is packed with a whole host of inspirational speakers, discussions, breakout sessions, tours and visits.

We at the AHF hope you enjoy the conference and look forward to seeing you today!

The evening will include Heritage Trust Network Trustee, Hopwood DePree, as he shares his ongoing journey rescuing his ancestors’ derelict 600-year-old Hopwood Hall Estate near Manchester, as featured in his book Downton Shabby and on his YouTube Channel (@HopwoodXIV).

QUIET ROOM AVAILABLE

Quiet room facilities will be available throughout the day
– ask a member of the Network team for more information.

BREAK OUT SESSION 1

Demystifying digital accessibility for heritage organisations

BEVERLEY GORMLEY, Programme Manager, Heritage Trust Network

Did you know that a quarter of the UK population is disabled? That's a quarter of your staff, volunteers, visitors and customers! Heritage Trust Network has been on a journey towards becoming more accessible and has learned a lot along the way. This session will be packed with tips and tools to make your organisation more inclusive online.

Resilience – facing the challenges!

KAREN CHALK, Director, Circus Eruption

There are 'moments' in every project: setbacks, panic but also, usually, chances to make your own luck. This is an opportunity to hear about the 'out-takes' of a small charity bringing a former church back into use. There will be practical insights for everyone to learn from, but we know sharing is good therapy, so you are welcome to share your own experiences!

Carbon reduction in historic buildings: an introduction

JESSICA VAN DER DRIFT, Training Advisor, Historic England

SARAH ROUSSEAU, Sector Resilience and Skills Support Officer, Historic England

KATIE O'DONNELL, 'Our Heritage, Our Future' Coordinator, Keep Scotland Beautiful

Climate change demands action from the heritage sector to reduce carbon emissions. This workshop covers carbon accounting, reduction plans, and practical steps for heritage organisations. Keep Scotland Beautiful will discuss Climate Emergency training and its 'Our Heritage, Our Future' project, supporting community heritage climate action across Scotland.

The future of historic churches across the UK

CAROLINE CLARK, Director for Scotland, National Lottery Heritage Fund

VICTORIA COLLISON, Director, Historic Churches Scotland

LISBETH McLEAN, CEO, Canolfan a Theatr Soar, Merthyr Tudful

Chaired by SARAH PEARCE, Development Officer for Scotland, Heritage Trust Network

Join us as we host a panel discussion about one of the UK's biggest heritage challenges: the closure and sale of church buildings. You will have the opportunity to ask our chosen panellists questions and get involved in the lively discussion.

Dunfermline & West Fife – Wellbeing through Heritage

GRANT WILLIAMS, Project Manager, Dunfermline & West Fife – Wellbeing through Heritage

Recent UNESCO research has shown the key role engagement with heritage activities can have in fostering wellbeing. This National Lottery Heritage-funded project, led by Carnegie Dunfermline Trust, offers a three-year programme using natural and intangible heritage assets to improve local communities' health, happiness, and wellbeing.

Break Out Session 1 is sponsored by Narro Associates.

NARRO

BREAK OUT SESSION 2

Heritage on film: mastering collaboration with audio visual companies

PETE ROCHE (Director and Producer) and JASON DAVIDSON (Director and Producer), Squeaky Pedal

Our interactive workshop will provide participants with a comprehensive guide on how to effectively collaborate with an audiovisual/film production company to ensure high-quality outputs that truly capture and promote heritage sites. We will cover the entire production process from the perspective of the production company, highlighting key steps and best practices.

Putting the wind in your sails!

DONALD BOYD, Joint General Manager, Huntly Development Trust

Learn how Huntly Development Trust has reaped the benefits of local wind energy developments to underpin its regeneration work and create long-term organisational sustainability. This session will look at community benefit funds, partnership/shared ownership with commercial developers and wholly owned resources. Could your organisation put the wind in its sails too?

Catalysing rural projects with the Architectural Heritage Fund

GORDON BARR, Development Manager – Scotland, AHF
ADAM HITCHINGS, Development Manager – Wales, AHF
RITA HARKIN, Development Manager – Northern Ireland, AHF

Join this interactive workshop hosted by AHF staff to explore different approaches to designing and delivering rural projects. Take part in a discussion on how to ensure your rural project becomes a placemaking success.

Modern materials in traditional buildings explored via the medium of cake

STEVE WOOD, Technical Director – Conservation, Narro Associates
LILY ERSKINE, Senior Associate, Narro Associates

The dangers of using modern materials to repair traditionally built buildings are widely communicated but often poorly understood. This session will explore this issue from a structural point of view, using the medium of cake and other baking techniques to illustrate key structural matters.

Creativity in the round: a celebration of creative approaches that add value

STEPHEN ANDERSON, Director, Buttress
JENNA JOHNSTON, Associate Heritage Consultant, Buttress

An open session, led by Buttress Architects, 'creativity in the round' will be a deep dive into what it means to be creative when designing and delivering projects. From project planning, team development, and making your project stand out, Buttress will share their own experiences and encourage an open dialogue for everyone to collectively identify what it means to be creative and articulate how it can benefit your approach.

Planning and delivering funder-friendly, engaging heritage activities

EMMA GRIFFITHS, Training and Development Officer, Fife Historic Buildings Trust

This session will include practical demonstrations and helpful guidance on designing and delivering funder-friendly heritage engagement activities. Bring buildings to life with an easy model, give podcasts a go, and engage school pupils, adults, special interest groups and intergenerational audiences. The Building in a Box activity will be demonstrated, with a take-away kit for every participant.

Your place or mine? Creating placemaking manifestos with young people

IZABELLA MAAR & GRACE McADAM, Heritage Trust Network Youth Forum

Heritage Trust Network Youth Forum members have been working on their placemaking manifesto, which suggests how places can be adapted to accommodate the needs and priorities of young people. This workshop will give an overview of their manifesto and task you with creating your own manifesto for young people.

FailSpace: tools to help you have more honest conversations about failure

DAVID STEVENSON, Dean of Arts, Social Sciences and Management and Professor of Cultural Policy and Arts Management at Queen Margaret University, Edinburgh

FailSpace was a three-year Arts and Humanities Research Council-funded research project exploring how the cultural sector can better recognise, acknowledge, and learn from failures, particularly when undertaking work intended to diversify and grow the people who are taking part in publicly funded cultural activities.

Everyone on board: a practical guide to board diversity

DR PEN FOREMAN, Senior Inclusive Heritage Advisor, Historic England

CHARLIE GARRATT, Senior Communities Advisor, Historic England

SANDRA STANCLIFFE, Head of Communities, Learning & Inclusion, Historic England

In this practical session we will look at overcoming real-world challenges with making your board more diverse. You will look at the business case for board diversity and explore some first steps, including auditing your existing board, advertising and recruiting new members, and beginning the culture change process. The session will include small group discussions of real scenarios.

Lessons from the Architectural Heritage Fund's Heritage Development Trusts Programme

GAVIN RICHARDS, Heritage Development Trusts Programme Manager, Architectural Heritage Fund

LORRAINE BELL, Manager, Fife Historic Buildings Trust

A workshop exploring organisational capacity-building and placemaking (the main objectives of the Heritage Development Trusts programme). Working in small groups, each facilitated by a Heritage Development Trust leader, participants will discuss and seek solutions to a specific issue or challenge emerging from the programme.

VAT for heritage projects

CT are VAT advisers to the Heritage Trust Network members across the country.

VAT can increase your project costs by up to 20% so it's important to get the right advice as soon as you can to budget accurately.

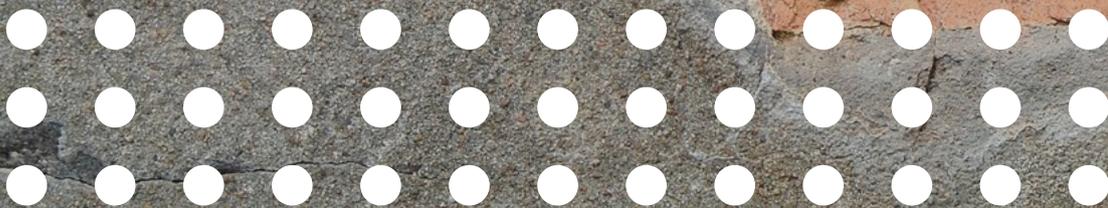

We can help with:

- VAT recovery on capital and professional fees
- VAT registration issues
- VAT reviews of income
- Treatment of grant income
- Dealing with HMRC

And much more.

Visit our stand at the conference for a chat, or email us at vat@ct.me.

+ utility aid

Utility Aid offers a range of services that can help you today. Services Include;

- Invoice Validation
- Energy Procurement
- Account Management
- Void Management
- Net Zero Management

"Our Charity has used the services of Utility Aid over a number of years- energy brokerage and solving problems with suppliers- and found them unfailingly helpful. Most recently, we have used their Remote Building Assessment to obtain guidance on how we might reduce the energy consumption of our very old building. After a tour of our building via a video link with an Energy Assessor, we received a comprehensive report on what improvements, large and small, we could make, and their sustainability, which was followed by a discussion with the Assessor. I have learnt so much from this process. With the support of the report, I feel much better equipped to work with my fellow Trustees to reduce the carbon footprint of our Village Hall."

DEREK BOTTOM, Community Leader

After a successful career across multiple disciplines in financial services, Derek became more involved in community activities following his retirement. In 2013, he took up the role of Chairperson for Dunfermline Area Local Community Planning Partnership, which he held until 2020. He is currently Chairperson of Dunfermline Heritage Partnership.

CLLR JAMES CALDER, Convener of the City of Dunfermline Area Committee of Fife Council

Since taking on the role of Convener in 2022, James has focused on developing Dunfermline's status as Scotland's newest city. James has been a Scottish Liberal Democrat councillor representing the Dunfermline South Ward since 2017 and is a trustee of Carnegie Dunfermline & Hero Fund Trusts. He holds degrees from both Aberystwyth and Glasgow Universities. Outside of work, he enjoys spending time in nature.

CAROLINE CLARK, Director for Scotland, National Lottery Heritage Fund

Caroline is a creative and dynamic leader, focused on supporting positive change for people and places and bringing many years of experience in heritage-led regeneration and placemaking. She is interested in innovation and cross-sector working, with recent areas of focus including green finance and natural capital. She sits on the Our Past Our Future National Strategy Steering Group, Scottish Government Nature Restoration Fund Performance Board and the Natural and Cultural Heritage Fund Performance Board.

JEREMY FENN, Interim Head of Investment, The National Lottery Heritage Fund, England, Midlands & East

Jeremy is the Chair of Heritage Trust Network and has been a trustee since 2016. In his day job at The National Lottery Heritage Fund, he has enabled heritage projects of all shapes and sizes for over 25 years, bringing huge benefits to people and places. He is based in Nottingham in the Fund's Midlands and East of England area.

LOUISE HUTCHISON, Operations Manager, Abbot House

Louise grew up in Dunfermline and continues to live there with her family. She has been involved in the Abbot House renovation project for over six years, initially redesigning the operational spaces by respecting the old but embracing the new, then taking over the operational reigns to ensure the house could be self-sustaining. Louise's role involves spinning a great many plates but she is honoured to be a custodian of such a special building and creating a venue that can be enjoyed by so many.
