Join the Heritage Network

If you work or volunteer for an organisation rescuing and reusing a historic site, you are not alone. There are thousands of people like you doing amazing work throughout the United Kingdom. Whatever challenges you face, the chances are someone has faced them before.

Heritage Network is the membership body for community organisations, charities and social enterprises that are saving, restoring and managing historic buildings, parks, gardens, structures and landscapes.

Heritage Network connects people so they can share experiences, learn from each other and provide mutual support. Conferences, site visits, meetings and online forums provide opportunities for members to network, support each other, and meet experts and funders.

Our network includes organisations specifically set up to save heritage sites, as well as community organisations that deliver other types of services and have found an ideal place to operate in a historic building or space. We also welcome individuals, businesses and local authorities that support local heritage action as well as young people and students who are building heritage careers.
